

AUK Institutes

AUK as a new institution seeks ways of expanding in many different areas with the aim in assisting students and the public in further development. Currently we have concentrated our focus in three areas which we believe are in the highest demand in Kosovo.

- AUK Training and Development Institute (TDI) offers a range of trainings in several different sectors such as Information Technology, Project Management, Entrepreneurship and Management etc. So far there have been over 2500 people who have gone through the training offered by this institute and the number of those interested is increasingly growing.
- Center for Energy and Natural Resources (CENR) is a partnership of Rochester Institute of Technology; the American University in Kosovo, several Ministries of the Kosovo Government and international organizations focusing on the sustainable development of Kosovo's energy and natural resources.
- AUK Research Center – is established with the aim in offering the public the expertise and knowledge of our faculty in various fields of research. AUK Research Center provides its know-how in many specific areas including but not restricted to policy research, public finance, public-private partnerships, completion of the legal framework, quantitative analysis, technical assistance while negotiating international agreements and others. Our experts are also qualified to supply the private sector with highly qualitative assistance in the area of corporate strategy, in their efforts to restructure their corporations or advance their level of competitiveness in international markets.